

Boyd Edward Wiff

November 11, 1961 - October 11, 2016

Boyd Edward Wiff (1961-2016) Boyd Wiff passed away October 11, 2016. He was a Christ follower, son, brother, husband, daddy, friend, outdoorsman, chef, builder, inspector, and encourager to many people. Boyd was born in Baldwin, Wisconsin on November 11, 1961 to Thomas and Bette Wiff. He grew up on the family farm and graduated from Ellsworth High School. He enlisted in the U.S. Army and served as a crypto-analyst in Japan, Germany and Texas. He attended the University of Wisconsin-Stout and was a member of the Blue Devils basketball team, playing center. He graduated with a degree in manufacturing engineering. He was in the construction field, building and inspecting homes in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Arizona, and Washington. In Phoenix he met his wife, Deanna, and five years later they moved to Vancouver, Washington. He became a building inspector for Clark County. During his three-year battle with glioblastoma multiform brain cancer Boyd trusted God. In fact, he told everyone he was on a tandem bicycle with Jesus as the front peddler and he was behind. There were many days Boyd couldn't pedal when he was enduring chemotherapy treatments, but Jesus kept the bike moving and Boyd coasted behind watching the view. Jesus was Boyd's constant companion through the road of life. Boyd is survived by his wife, nine-year-old daughter, parents, and siblings. A celebration of Boyd's life will be Saturday, October 22, 2016, 10am, New Heights East Church, 1902 NE 185th Ave., Vancouver, WA.
