Colorado where he spent his childhood years. Gil graduated from Leadville High School where he excelled in basketball.

Those who knew Gil will remember him as a master in the hardware and industrial supply field where he was once honored as the regional "Salesman of the Year" covering five western states. Gil's career culminated with operating his own True Value Hardware business along with Margie. Gil was widely known for his ability to solve problems and fix almost anything mechanical.

He had a quiet nature, tireless work ethic, and an unwavering loyalty to his family and friends which he passed on to his Sons, Grandchildren, and Great Grandchildren. He cherished his role as a Husband, Father, Grandfather and Great Grandfather and could often be found at sporting, musical and school events supporting his family and community.
